TIPS-2-TRANSFER for Veterans and Active Duty Service Members

1. How do I identify my career interests?
   - Think about what is important to you: majors and concentrations, academic programs, student clubs, student life, living arrangements, campus life, geographic location, size, cost, selectivity, and how they can lead to different career paths.

2. How do I research transfer colleges?
   - When researching, take notes on important information and make sure that they enable the college/university to contact you with important information and the veteran status on the application. This will help you receive your benefits.

- Request an official High School transcript (if required by the college/university) online at veterans.ny.gov or hesc.ny.gov.
- Request SAT/ACT and AP scores.
- Request an official Military transcript if you cannot locate it through dudents.doded.mil or service-members/transcripts/index.html.
- Request CLEP/DSST/DANTES scores taken while in the military at the site below: dantes.doded.mil/.
- Apply for Financial Aid online at benefits.va.gov/ebenefits/apply or contact the Financial Aid and Scholarship links at ebenefits.va.gov/ebenefits/financial-assistance.
- Apply for your VA benefits once you have applied for your VA educational benefits.
- Apply for admission to the college or university you want to transfer to.

- Collect your Military paperwork and Kicker or College Fund Contract from Active Duty for most recent period of service-members.
- Provide a copy of the contract.
- Make sure you notify the college of your veteran status on the application.
- Provide a copy of this letter to the college.
- Make sure you notify the college of your veteran status on the application.
- Provide a copy of this letter to the college.
- Request an official Military transcript online.
- Request official transcripts of your scores for the CLEP or DSST.

Transfer Checklist

- Collect your Military paperwork and Kicker or College Fund Contract from Active Duty for most recent period of service-members.
- Provide a copy of the contract.
- Make sure you notify the college of your veteran status on the application.
- Provide a copy of this letter to the college.
- Make sure you notify the college of your veteran status on the application.
- Provide a copy of this letter to the college.
- Request official transcripts of your scores for the CLEP or DSST.
If you are a veteran or currently in the military, there are many opportunities to help you continue your college education. In addition, military veterans may be eligible for academic credit for certain educational experiences or military course credit. Many campuses have dedicated counselors and advisors to help military and veteran students transfer and transition to campus. Read on to learn the important steps to transfer.

Q&A
Transfer Answers for Veterans and Active Duty Service Members

1. How do I identify my career interests?
   - Ask yourself: Where do I want to end up, and how do I get there? Think about your interests and your skills, including those learned in the military, and how they can lead to different career paths.

2. How do I research transfer colleges?
   - Think about what is important to you: majors offered, geographic location, size, cost, selectivity, athletics, housing, religious affiliation and setting (urban, suburban, or rural). Search for colleges that meet your preferences.
   - When researching, take notes on important information such as GPA requirements, application deadlines, transfer contact person, guaranteed housing, and scholarship information.
   - It is very important to understand how your college and military credits will transfer into the specific degree that you are interested in at the transfer college.
3. What steps can I take to help me make my final college choices?

- Ask if any of your military training will be used as college credits, and if so, how. The majority of institutions use the American Council on Education (ACE) recommendations on applying specific military courses and training as credit toward a college degree, but how and when they are applied may be determined by the academic program you are pursuing.
- Ask if the college offers support for military students – and what kind.

- Talk with your academic advisor or contact a Transfer Counselor at your college if you are currently attending a community college or other 2-year institution.
- Visit “Find Your College” at GoCollegeNY.org to help determine which college is for you.
- Visit campuses if possible. You want to get a feel for the personality of the college to determine if it is a good fit for you.
- Always contact an admissions representative at the university or college you are interested in attending. Inquire about potential scholarships, housing, financial aid, and other important concerns.
4. What courses should I be taking now and how will I know what credits will transfer?

- Discuss your transfer plans with a Transfer Counselor or Education Services Officer at your current college – they can help guide you.
- Concentrate on the pre-requisites you’ll need to be admitted into your chosen academic major. If you are just starting out and unsure of your final major, focus on taking general education/core requirements (for example, history, humanities, foreign language, etc.), not the major courses themselves. Note that many institutions have very specific criteria for the transfer of major courses.
- Review Course Equivalencies often found on the 4-year colleges and universities’ websites.
- Remember that the college or university you are considering transferring to is your best resource to ensure your transfer planning is on the right track. They will make the final decision about how and if your credits will transfer.

5. How do I begin the application process?

- Check the college’s website for applications.
- Some academic programs (e.g., nursing, teacher education, social work) require a separate application in addition to the general application.
- Most institutions prefer that you apply online. Applications are often found on the institution’s Admissions page in a link such as ‘Apply Now.’
- Always pay attention to the deadlines!
3. What steps can I take to help me make my final college choices?

- Attend college fairs and meet with representatives from the universities you are interested in.
- Attend college visits and take notes to help determine which college is for you.
- Inquire about potential scholarships, grants, and financial aid options. Attend college fairs and meet with representatives from the universities you are interested in.
- Attend college visits and take notes to help determine which college is for you.
- Make an appointment to speak with a Transfer Counselor at your college if you are currently attending a community college or other 2-year institution.
- Request information from the university or college you are interested in to ensure it is a good fit for you.
- Ask if the college offers support for military students—and what kind.

4. What courses should I be taking toward a college degree, but how and when they are applied may be determined by the academic requirements you are pursuing. Remember that the college or university you are currently attending is your best resource for-college/military-corner.html.

- Always contact an admissions representative at the university or college you are interested in to discuss your transfer plans with a Transfer Counselor or Education Services Officer at your current college – they can help guide you.
- Concentrate on the prerequisites you'll need to be admitted into your chosen academic major. Some academic programs (e.g., nursing, teacher education, social work) require a separate application in addition to the general application.
- Keep track of who you submitted the transcript requests to and when requests were made.

5. How do I begin the application process?

- Applications are often found on the institution’s website. Review Course Equivalencies often found on the university or college website (acenet.edu). Search for “military transcripts.”
- If you are considering transferring to a 4-year college or university, you should request a Transfer Evaluation to determine which credits will transfer. This can be done using ACE (American Council on Education) recommendations on applying credits as college credits, and if so, how. The majority of institutions use the American Council on Education (ACE) recommendations on applying credits as college credits, and if so, how.

6. Which transcripts do I need to send?

- Request your official transcripts from ALL colleges attended and from your high school, if required by the college.
- Active and Veteran members of the U.S. Armed Forces should also submit their personal military transcripts for possible credit. Links to obtain transcripts for each branch of service can be found on the American Council on Education website (acenet.edu). Search for “military transcripts.”

7. How do I apply for financial aid?

- Contact each college’s financial aid office to ensure you complete all forms required to be considered for all types of financial aid.
- Do not wait to be accepted before applying for financial aid!
- To learn more about aid for college, visit studentaid.ed.gov/types/grants-scholarships/military

- For New York State residents attending an approved college in the state, learn more about Veteran Tuition Awards at hesc.ny.gov/pay-for-college/military-corner.html.
- Apply for your VA benefits at ebenefits.va.gov.
- Fill out the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) at fafsa.ed.gov.
- Include all universities and colleges you are applying to on your FAFSA. Additional colleges can be added to your FAFSA at a later date.
- Watch the deadlines!

To learn more about aid for college, visit studentaid.ed.gov/types/grants-scholarships/military.
As a Veteran or Active Duty Service Member, you may be entitled to benefits from the Post-9/11 GI Bill or the pre-existing Montgomery GI Bill-Active Duty (MGIB). Many colleges also participate in the Yellow Ribbon Program as an additional grant to service members and eligible beneficiaries. Note that not every veteran is eligible to receive these benefits, and not all institutions are Yellow Ribbon participants, so be sure to ask. Also discuss with your military advisors which benefits package is best for you. Visit veterans.ny.gov for more information. These programs have limits in both funds and duration, so applying for additional aid (e.g., scholarships, grants) may be important, as will the number of transfer credits you receive toward the intended degree since this will help determine how long it will take to earn your degree.

8. How do I check the status of my application?

- Keep in contact with the Admissions staff at the universities and colleges you are applying to throughout the process. Be sure your contact information (telephone number, email address, and mailing address) is current.
- Check on the status of your military transcripts – see the back of this brochure for contact information.

The college or university you are considering transferring to is your best resource to ensure your transfer planning is on the right track. They will make the final decision about how and if your credits will transfer.
Transfer Checklist

☐ Collect your Military paperwork and information. This includes:
  ■ DD214 Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty for most recent period of active duty.
  ■ Kicker or College Fund Contract (the Department of Defense may be able to provide this information if you cannot locate a copy of the contract).

☐ Apply for admission to the college or university
  ■ Make sure you notify the college of your veteran status on the application. This will enable the college/university to contact you with important information and make sure that they know to certify your enrollment with the VA.

☐ Request SAT/ACT and AP scores
  (if required by the college/university)

☐ Request an official High School transcript
  ■ This may not be necessary if you have completed more than 24 college credits – check with the college’s admissions office.

☐ Request an official Military transcript
  ■ Your military training may be eligible for college credit. Request an official military transcript online. See the websites on the back of this brochure.

☐ Request CLEP/DSST/DANTES scores
  ■ Request official transcripts of your scores for CLEP or DSST scores taken while in the military at the site below: dantes.doded.mil/service-members/transcripts/index.html

☐ Apply for your VA benefits
  ■ Once you have applied for your VA Educational Benefits online at ebenefits.va.gov/ebenefits/apply you will receive a letter of eligibility from the VA. Provide a copy of this letter to the college/university. It will help certify your enrollment to the VA and help you receive your benefits.

☐ Apply for Financial Aid
  ■ Begin this process early. Also check out the Financial Aid and Scholarship links at benefits.va.gov/gibill/
To Request an Official Military Transcript

Air Force (CCAF)
airuniversity.af.mil

For Army (AARTS), Coast Guard (CGI), Marines (MCI), Navy and Marines (SMARTS)
https://jst.doded.mil (follow instructions in your browser to access the website)

Other Resources

American Council on Education (ACE) Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services
acenet.edu/news-room/Pages/Military-Guide-Online.aspx

New York State Division of Military and Naval Affairs (DMNA)
http://dmna.ny.gov

New York State Higher Education Services Corp.
hesc.ny.gov

New York State Veterans Benefits
veterans.ny.gov

U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs –Veterans Benefits benefits.va.gov/benefits/

This publication was written in collaboration with transfer experts from the New York State Transfer and Articulation Association (NYSTAA), a consortium of advisors and other professionals from public, independent and proprietary colleges and universities involved and interested in improving the college transfer process (nystaa.org). Production of this publication was made possible with support from a federal College Access Challenge Grant awarded to the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities (CICU) by the New York State Higher Education Services Corporation. For additional information, contact CICU, 17 Elk St., Albany, NY 12207. (518) 436-4781. outreach@cicu.org, nycolleges.org and cicu.org ©2018 by the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities (CICU). If you wish to reproduce any portion of this publication, please contact outreach@cicu.org.